Additional learning could link to time – being able to tell o clock, half past, quarter past and quarter to on an analogue clock. Then learning five minute intervals.

Or money – recognising coins, making a range of different totals up to 50p then £1 using different coins, buying objects from a toy shop and getting change from 50p and then £1.

Also practise counting in 2 5 10 and then times tables.

Reading

(Aim to do 1 per day)

- Reading a variety of books at home. Your child could share a book everyday. This can be reading a book aloud everyday or sharing a book with an adult.
- Oxford Owl has free eBooks if you wish to create a free account. Complete the linked Play activities for each book.
- Create a bookmark, perhaps you could choose characters from your favourite stories.
- Complete a book review on one of the books you have read – What was it about? What did you like about it? Would you recommend it to anyone?
- With your child, look in magazines, newspapers and books for the tricky words or phonic sounds they are currently learning (these can be found in the back of their reading diaries). They could use a highlighter to highlight in magazines and newspapers.

Writing

(Aim to do 1 per day)

We have decided that because this will be a monumental time during all of your lifetimes it would be a great opportunity to document our days for future people to read. Just like we found out about The Great Fire of London from Samuel Pepys diary.

Your daily writing activity is to write in a diary everyday.

We will set a weekly challenge to try and get something in your writing (Maybe you get a treat if you manage to get it in your writing 😊)
